Description
Image	 A large, red-painted wooden water wheel is the central focus of the image. It is mounted on a wooden frame and is positioned in a workshop or mill. The wheel has several spokes and a large, curved rim. In the foreground, there is a blue metal structure, possibly a part of the mill's mechanism, with a wooden block resting on it. The background shows a cluttered workshop with various tools, pipes, and equipment. The lighting is somewhat dim, suggesting an indoor setting with natural light coming from a window.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail version of the main image, showing the red water wheel and the blue metal structure in a workshop setting.
