

Images

Objectid	1,114,748
Description
Image	 A detailed photograph of a complex industrial machine, likely a lathe or mill. The machine is primarily painted blue, with some red components. A prominent feature is a flexible metal hose connected to a cylindrical part of the machine. Various bolts, nuts, and metal rods are visible, indicating a highly adjustable and precise tool. The background shows a workshop environment with wooden panels and other equipment.
Thumb	 A small, square thumbnail version of the main image, showing the same industrial machine from a slightly different angle or zoom level.