1,115,129	On display at Greenwich (Image Copyright RMG).	 A large, green and red steam engine on display in a museum. The engine is mounted on a black metal base and features a tall, black cylindrical boiler. It has various red and green components, including a large flywheel, a red valve gear, and a red connecting rod. The engine is situated in a large, well-lit hall with a high ceiling and other exhibits visible in the background.	 A small thumbnail image of the steam engine, showing its overall structure and color scheme.
