

Images

Objectid	1,115,129
Description	On display at Greenwich (Image Copyright RMG).
Image	 A large, green and red steam engine is displayed in a museum. The engine is mounted on a black base and features a tall, black cylindrical boiler. It has various red and green components, including a large flywheel, a red valve gear, and a red connecting rod. The engine is situated in a large hall with a high ceiling and other exhibits in the background.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail image of the steam engine, showing its overall structure and color scheme.