

Images

Objectid	1,115,156
Description	Arriving at the museum
Image	 A large, red steam engine is being transported on a flatbed trailer. The engine features a prominent, large flywheel on the left side and a complex boiler and cylinder assembly on the right. The text "BLACKSTONE SOCIETY" and "ENGINE" is visible on the side of the boiler. The engine is secured with yellow straps. The trailer is parked on a paved surface, and a building with a tiled roof is visible in the background under a cloudy sky.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail version of the main image, showing the red steam engine on the trailer.