Description	Rootes blower - at Longford Mill
Image	 A large, green, rusted industrial blower, identified as a Rootes blower, is shown in a close-up view. The blower has a prominent vertical wooden plank leaning against its side. The blower's body is heavily corroded, with green paint peeling off to reveal orange-brown rust. A metal plate on the front of the blower reads "ROOTES" and "CONDORVILLE AIR BLOWER". The blower is connected to a large, horizontal metal pipe at the top. To the right, a pulley system is visible. The background shows more industrial machinery and a concrete floor.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail image of the blower, showing the same green, rusted industrial machine with a wooden plank leaning against it.
