

Images

Objectid	1,596
Description	First inspection at Ffestiniog, alternator end with Keith for scale
Image	 A large, grey industrial alternator is the central focus of the image. It has a complex design with various pipes, valves, and a large circular opening on the left side. A man wearing a blue hard hat, a dark jacket, and light-colored trousers stands to the right of the machine, providing a sense of scale. The room has white brick walls and a dark floor. A doorway in the background shows a stone wall outside. A blue container is visible on top of the machine.
Thumb	 A small, square thumbnail image showing a different angle or a close-up of the alternator, providing a quick overview of the main image.