Description	After arrival at the museum
Image	 A large, industrial JCB 320 / 04130 engine is displayed in a museum. The engine is mounted on a wooden pallet and features a prominent yellow JCB oil filter on the left side. The engine block is black, and the cylinder head is silver. Various hoses, wires, and mechanical components are visible. The background shows a green metal railing and other museum exhibits.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail image of the JCB engine, showing the same components as the main image but at a smaller scale.
