

Images

Objectid	1,621
Description	Control box at farm
Image	 A large, rectangular metal control box, heavily rusted and weathered, sits on a simple metal stand. The box is light-colored with significant brown rust. It has a hinged lid that is slightly ajar. To the left, another similar but more rusted box is partially visible, with a thick, braided metal hose connected to it. The background is a rough, textured wall, possibly made of stone or concrete, and the floor is dirt.
Thumb	 A small, square thumbnail image showing the same rusted metal control box from a slightly different angle, confirming its appearance and setting.