

Images

Objectid	1,625
Description	Stripped for rebuild, heads - July 2008
Image	 A photograph showing three large, heavily rusted metal engine heads (cylinder heads) resting on a wooden pallet. The heads are dark, pitted with rust, and have various ports and bolt holes. A wrench is lying on the front-most head. In the background, there is a concrete floor, a wooden fence, and a yellow piece of machinery.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail version of the main image, showing the same three rusted engine heads on the pallet.