Description	Mechanical oiler
Image	 A detailed photograph of a green-painted mechanical oiler. The device features a prominent circular pressure gauge with a black face and white markings. To the right, a manifold holds several brass nozzles, each with a yellow protective cap. Various copper and steel pipes and fittings are visible, connected to the main body of the oiler. The background is a solid red wall.
Thumb	 A small, square thumbnail version of the main image, showing the same green mechanical oiler from a slightly different angle.
