

Objectid	Description	Image	Thumb
2,921	Loading at St Ann's Head	 A large, green industrial engine, likely a diesel or steam engine, is mounted on a rail car. The engine is being lifted by a crane, with chains visible at the top. The engine has a complex arrangement of pipes, valves, and a large flywheel. It is situated outdoors on a rail track, with a cloudy sky in the background.	 A small thumbnail image of the engine, showing its side profile and the rail car it is mounted on.