2,925	Engine on the ground floor	 A large photograph showing a three-story red brick building. A green corrugated metal structure is attached to the side, featuring a large garage door and a smaller window. A white car is partially visible in the bottom left corner. The ground is dark and appears to be a paved area or driveway. A small number '2925' is visible on the brick wall near the ground floor entrance.	 A small thumbnail version of the main photograph, showing the same brick building and green extension from a slightly different angle.
