

Objectid	Description	Image	Thumb
3,607		 A large, rusted industrial machine, possibly a water pump or mill, mounted on a stone wall. The machine features a large flywheel on the left, a complex gear system in the center, and a large, curved, ribbed metal component. The machine is heavily corroded and shows signs of age. The background is a rough stone wall, and the floor is dirt and debris.	 A small thumbnail image of the same machine, showing a different angle or a close-up of a part of the machine.
