

Objectid	Description	Image	Thumb
4,130		 A large, green-painted diesel engine, likely a Petter model, is shown in a workshop or museum setting. The engine features a large, light-colored flywheel on the left side and a large, green-painted fuel tank on top. The base of the engine is mounted on a wooden frame. The background shows other mechanical equipment and a doorway.	 A small thumbnail image of the same green Petter diesel engine, showing a different angle or a smaller version of the same machine.