712	Crankshaft back in.	 A large, industrial crankshaft assembly is mounted on a wooden frame in a workshop. The assembly features a prominent red painted section and a green painted section. The crankshaft is positioned horizontally, with its main shaft and connecting rods visible. The workshop environment is cluttered with various tools, equipment, and materials, including a large metal container and a green machine in the background.	 A small thumbnail image of the crankshaft assembly, showing the red and green painted sections and the wooden frame.
