Objectid	712
Description
Image	 A photograph of a red and green engine block, likely a small internal combustion engine, mounted on a wooden frame. The engine is positioned in a workshop or garage. In the background, there is a green metal cabinet, a blue gas cylinder, and various tools and equipment. The engine block is painted red with green accents on the lower part. It is mounted on a wooden frame made of several thick wooden beams. The floor is concrete and there are some metal pipes and a small metal container on the ground.
Thumb	 A small thumbnail image of the engine block, showing the same red and green engine mounted on a wooden frame, similar to the main image.
